

QUIT Campaign

Dear BouwGenius Colleague,

You will shortly be starting on a new project via BouwGenius. Whether it's your first project or your next project, the most important thing for you to know is that we place a high value on your safety and that of your colleagues in the workplace.

You already received comprehensive information about this when you joined BouwGenius by means of the SGU safety instruction and a basic safety course but before you actually start working it is important that you just stop and consider the work situation.

Despite all precautionary measures and the use of personal safety equipment, accidents still occur regularly, often as a result of human error. Fortunately the incidents that have occurred have often led to only relatively minor injuries.

It is for this reason that we have introduced the Last Minute Risk Analysis. BouwGenius has designed this analysis via a campaign named: QUIT!

What do we mean by QUIT?

- Q Quality at work is what we provide, no matter what you do at BouwGenius.
So make us and the clients proud and take care of Quality!
- U Use Personal Protection Equipment and follow the general safety regulations and standards in every situation!
- I Instructions are very important, no Instructions ... no work!
- T Think before you start, if something is missing or you are not sure the situation is safe, speak out and make sure you take care of it, otherwise QUIT at once!

So if you are in any doubt about safety, QUIT immediately and contact your superior on the project and submit a report on the incident to BouwGenius via info@bouwgenius.nl or via +31 38 4553910.

We wish you every success in your (safe) work.

BouwGenius
